

HUERTA WILL AGAIN OPEN FIGHT ON REBELS

Financiers Believe Provisional President Has Plan to Establish Government Bank to Provide Funds For Conducting Campaigns—Orders Protection Of Foreigners.

Senator Would Invade Mexico

Fall Of New Mexico Makes Impassioned Speech for Intervention By United States—Cites List Of Crimes and Former American Acts In Support Of Argument.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 10.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Provisional President Huerta has sent to all governors of States and army commanders loyal to his government telegraphic orders to take offensive steps immediately against the Constitutionalist forces directed by General Carranza.

In addition to these orders Huerta cautioned his followers to give protection to all foreigners with the warning that they will be held personally responsible for any outrages or other untoward acts directed at the lives or interests of such foreigners.

This action of Huerta is taken to mean that Huerta will renew his fight against the revolutionists which has lagged of late, apparently because of lack of funds.

The exchange market is completely demoralized but, because of orders issued by Huerta, leading bankers here are convinced that the government intends to establish its own bank as the only alternative would be to issue fiat money, in other words, irredeemable paper made payable by law.

SENATOR MAKES DEMAND FOR INVASION OF MEXICO

WASHINGTON, March 10.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—In an impassioned speech in the senate yesterday, Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico urged armed intervention by the United States for the protection of foreigners in Mexico, declaring the right of this country to intervene without the act being construed as a declaration of war.

Senator Fall was answered by Senator Benjamin F. Shively of Indiana who deplored the sensational demands of the senator from New Mexico and protested that intervention such as proposed would mean war between the two countries.

Senator Fall backed up his arguments with references to situations in United States history which he holds are similar, and said that the United States should send armed forces across the border "with the solemn declaration that we do not do this as making war on the Mexican nation, and that it is not our purpose to acquire territory, upset their laws or overturn their constitution. We should immediately use our land and naval forces to protect our citizens and other foreigners there."

Senator Fall, in his speech, gave a list of one hundred outrages upon American citizens, with the facts of which outrages, he asserted, he is personally acquainted. The list included murder and rape.

The senator quoted President McKinley's Cuban message and contrasted McKinley's action with President Wilson's refusal to give the senate partition as to the Mexican situation. He also contrasted Wilson's policy with Lincoln's action when he gave the senate the French correspondence, and Cleveland's course when Cleveland gave the list of deaths and arrests in Cuba.

In upholding the right of intervention, Senator Fall quoted the Democratic platform, which affirmed the constitutional rights of American citizens abroad and full protection for their lives and property.

In the course of his speech he made a bold attack on General Villa. Comparing Huerta and Villa, he said:

"If Huerta is a murderer, at least he is a murderer in a grand scale. He wouldn't stoop to kill a peon for (Continued on page three.)"

GRAND JURY MAY SOON GET CASE

McCarn Intimates That No Time Will Be Lost Investigating Charges Against Kellett.

"I am ready to turn over to the United States district attorney the papers which relate to the so-called charges against Kellett just as soon as he wants them," stated District Attorney General Arthur G. Smith yesterday, when asked as to the present status of this question.

Statements have been made in the press heretofore to the effect that Deputy Attorney General Smith believes that there exists sufficient ground for an indictment in the so-called confessions, statements or whatever else these documents may be called.

"I have been so busy lately that I have had no opportunity to look the matter up or to get the papers said to be in existence," stated District Attorney Jeff McCarn last night, "but I will get them just as soon as I am able to, and that may be very shortly, probably in a day or so."

"Of course, I cannot say at this time that I will instigate a prosecution against Kellett. I must first examine whatever there is to the case, and if I find sufficient evidence in it to warrant a prosecution I will bring the matter before the grand jury which meets April 13."

"The district attorney is known to have been quite busy of late in regard to statutory offenses. A number of prosecutions have been instituted, the people concerned have been arrested, given preliminary hearings and held to the grand jury or set free as the United States commissioner felt was warranted. Besides those cases which have come to light because of the arrests which followed, the district attorney has also handled quite a number of cases which were disposed of through the marriages of the persons concerned, repatriation in this manner being deemed sufficient to warrant dropping criminal prosecution."

COMMANDER OF TROOP E, FOURTH CAVALRY, THANKS THE PEOPLE OF HONOLULU FOR LIBRARY PRESENTED

SCHOOLFIELD BARRACKS, H. T., March 7, 1914.

Editor Advertiser—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the splendid library, that the people of Honolulu have so kindly donated to Troop E and to express the gratitude of the men, who were much pleased that the people should remember them and sympathize with them in their loss.

To fully realize how very much the gift was appreciated, one has only to remember how few amusements there are for the men at this station.

To you also I want to express the thanks of both officers and men of Troop E, as it was you who conceived the idea of replacing the library and had the labor of getting it together.

In whatever part of the world the Troop may serve, the men will have with them a constant reminder of the kindly feeling shown by the Advertiser and the people of Honolulu.

Very respectfully,
W. C. SHORT,
Captain Fourth Cav., Comdg. Troop E.

COURT WILL NOT REVIEW FAMED DYNAMITE CASES

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(Associated Press Cable)—The supreme court of the United States today refused to review the convictions of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and twenty-three labor leaders convicted of criminal complicity in the "dynamiting cases." The men were convicted in December, 1912, at the famous Indianapolis trials and received heavy sentences. ## MOTHER INDUCES CHILD TO BRING HER KNIFE, ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE

After months of pain and suffering, fighting against odds and without chance for recovery from the dread disease from which she was suffering, Mrs. John Atkins, a young Hawaiian woman of Keolu, last week feebly called to her child, who was playing on the floor near her bed, to bring her a knife from a table close by.

The youngster, anxious to please its sick mother, brought the knife to the woman.

Placing the weapon to her throat, the dying woman tried to cut the flesh, but had strength only to inflict a wound less than an inch long. The child, seeing the stream of blood, became frightened and ran crying into the yard.

Neighbors responded. They found Mrs. Atkins, half-conscious, her face and neck covered with blood, lying on the bed. She was quickly carried to a hospital. Less than a half hour later she died. The attending physician says that consumption was the cause of death. The wound in her neck was slight.

Dissection, said the physician, had probably started when Mrs. Atkins decided to hasten the end.

Mrs. Atkins was thirty-four years of age and a popular young Hawaiian woman of Keolu.

She had contracted tuberculosis by coming in contact with one who was suffering from the malady.

While fifteen or twenty youngsters were engaged in a lively game of craps in the rear of the pineapple cannery during the noon hour yesterday Officers Saunders and Hoa have into sight. In the scramble for safety all of the lawbreakers except Joseph Kaipo, a Hawaiian, and Louis Markado, a Filipino, succeeded in escaping. These two were charged with gambling.

Seven Dead, Thirty Missing, Result of Athletic Club Fire

Flames Spread So Rapidly That Efforts of Firemen to Save Victims Are Futile.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—It is believed that thirty to thirty-five guests perished in the fire which early yesterday destroyed the building of the Missouri Athletic Club. Seven bodies have been recovered. Nearly thirty occupants who are believed to have been in the building when the fire broke out are unaccounted for.

Search of the ruins was still being conducted at midnight under the glare of bright searchlights but, owing to the tangled wreckage of the ruins, the search for bodies is necessarily slow. The cause of the fire is a mystery, the flames breaking out when all persons in the building were asleep.

The fire was accompanied by many dramatic episodes. Numbers of occupants who could make their way to windows dropped into life nets or hurled to the sidewalks and pavements and received injuries, some of which may prove fatal. Firemen and citizens made many efforts to enter the building and rescue the victims believed to be trapped in dormitories, but were driven back by flames and smoke. The fire spread so rapidly that from the very beginning there was little hope of rescuing any persons caught in the blazing structure.

POLICE USE CLUBS ON SUFFRAGETTES

Glasgow Authorities Arrest Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Forcefully Resist Rescue.

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 10.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Scores of women were clubbed and severely hurt in a fierce fight here last night between a large crowd of suffragettes and police at St. Andrews Hall. Both sides used clubs freely. Emmeline Pankhurst, who addressed the meeting and whose utterances caused police interference, was arrested and placed in jail.

The hall was packed to capacity when Mrs. Pankhurst began her address. In the audience were scores of police. Scarcely had Mrs. Pankhurst commenced her speech when she became rabid and a squad of police stepped to the platform and placed the suffragette leader under arrest.

Instantly the officers were surrounded by a frenzied mob of women who attempted to take Mrs. Pankhurst from the police. The women and their men supporters were armed with clubs and began to wield them, at which the police drew their own sticks and began to lay on freely around them.

The entire gathering of suffragettes rushed to the assistance of their compatriots, while the many officers stationed in the hall edged forward to assist their brother officers. The fight waged for some time but finally the women fell back before the police clubs and their leader was led off to prison. None was seriously injured.

SACRAMENTO OUSTS IDLE ARMY; CLUBS ARE USED

Officers and Citizens Drive Army Of Unemployed and Vagrants Across Bridge Into Yolo County After Running Fight In Which Several Are Seriously Injured.

Leaders Land in City Jail

Present Hosts of Wandering Band Call On Governor to Provide Militia—Will Not Consent to Harboring Loafers—Deputized Citizens and Militia Patrol Streets of California Capital.

SACRAMENTO, California, March 8.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Swearing dire vengeance upon all Sacramentoans, but otherwise seemingly harmless because of the loss of their trouble-inspiring leaders who are in jail here, the army of 1700 unemployed and vagrants who infested this city for several days and attempted to force the city to provide them free transportation to Utah, are camped tonight over in Yolo county, having been driven across the river yesterday morning by a force of police, deputy sheriffs, special officers and citizens armed with pickhandles and other clubs as persuaders. Some of the mob escaped the expelling force but they remained in hiding last night.

Officials of Yolo county, fearful of the invaders, have called on the governor to provide militia to prevent disorders and declares they will not tolerate the vagrants in their domain.

On the other hand Sacramentoans are determined that those of the army driven out shall not return and that those still remaining in the city will be driven out as rapidly as they can be found. A fire company is stationed on the bridge leading to Yolo county across which the greater part of the army was driven and will utilize heavy streams of water on the band should an attempt to return be made.

Five hundred citizens, volunteering and sworn in as deputy sheriffs, are patrolling the city to guard against disturbances and in this work are being aided by six companies of state militia which were ordered out by Adjutant General Forbes in anticipation of trouble when the ousting of the vagrants commenced. A cordon of militia and police surrounds the state capitol and grounds.

Leaders Placed Under Arrest. When the large body of police, deputy sheriffs and special officers appeared at the camp of the army in the morning and ordered the motley gang to leave the city they were met with flat refusals by the leaders of the band. The leaders were immediately arrested and hurried off to jail.

Without their advisers the mob seemed to lose courage and started to scatter like quail. In anticipation of this move the officers quickly circled the army and a running fight commenced. In the fracas many heads felt the impact of heavy clubs and several were seriously injured. After a short battle the majority of the band was rounded up and herded through the streets to the bridge, were compelled to cross and told not to return. Only a small percentage of the band escaped and are still in the city. Camp fires of the band are visible across the river tonight.
